Subject: MLPAComments: Comment on revised Master Plan Framework

From Kenyon Hensel

It is obvious to those of us who have been involved with each successive attempt at creating MPAs in our states waters, that this attempt is just as flawed, biased, inadequate, and socially/scientifically blind as any previous proposals.

If you want to have any chance of producing a product that can be implemented without massive socio-economic destruction, and have any possibility of achieving the goals of improving our marine environment, then you must at the least, implement all of the changes suggested by the CFC critique of the revised draft.
